The Ondo state Ministry of Information will next week commence a exhibition as part of activities to commemorate Nigeria's 50th Independence Anniversary.

The exhibition, which is first of its kind will bring graphic memories of Nigeria's historical journey since independence and will dovetail into the present.

Ondo state commissioner for Information, Mr Ranti Akerele said the exhibition is meant to re-ignite the nostalgia of the Labour of heroes past in the minds of adult while firing heroic deeds in the minds of the youth.

According to him, the exhibition will again position the nation in its proper perspective as a country with lofty mission and vision in the minds of Nigerians, particularly the younger ones who had for long suffered from a warped value system.

The historical photo exhibition will feature pictures of the nation's founding fathers like chief Obafemi Awolowo,Dr.Nnamdi Azikiwe,(the Zik of Africa),Alhaji Tafawa Balewa,Chief Michael Adekunle Ajasin,Sir Aderemi among others.

It will also hold a unique feature of education enlightenment for students at all levels.

The exhibition which comes up at the cultural centre in Akure is opened to visitors and the generality of the public.
